

Adding Information

1. Additionally:

- Explanation: Used to introduce an extra piece of information that supports or complements what has been said.
- Example: "The new policy will reduce costs. Additionally, it will improve employee satisfaction."

2. Moreover:

- Explanation: Used to add further information that emphasizes the point being made, often indicating that the added information is of equal or greater importance.
- Example: "The project is over budget. Moreover, it is behind schedule."

3. Furthermore:

- Explanation: Used to introduce a new point that adds to and strengthens the previous point.
- Example: "The company has seen a decrease in profits. Furthermore, customer complaints have increased."

4. Also:

- Explanation: Used to add another piece of information that is relevant to the point being discussed.
- Example: "She is an excellent writer. She also has a talent for public speaking."

5. Likewise:

- Explanation: Used to indicate that something is similar or has a similar effect to what was previously mentioned.
- Example: "He is known for his generosity. Likewise, his sister is very kind-hearted."

6. Besides:

- Explanation: Used to add information that supports the previous statement, often suggesting that the added information is an additional reason or factor.
- Example: "We can't afford a new car right now. Besides, our current car is still in good condition."

7. In addition:

- Explanation: Used to introduce an extra piece of information that adds to what has already been mentioned.
- Example: "She volunteers at the animal shelter. In addition, she donates to several charities."